The agenda contains the following:

(3) The limitation of land armaments.

TO ASK CHANGES
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 20.—It is announced that the Waichiaopu will request that certain features of the program for the Pacific Conference, as submitted by the American Government, be altered, on the ground that they do not meet with the approval of the people of China.

The Government has decided to despatch Mr. Hsu Yuan, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs at Shanghai, to Washington with the Conference Delegation. He will be relieved during his absence by Mr. Yang Chang, the former commissioner at Shanghai.

FILIPINOS NOT WANTED

Manila, Sept. 22.—Speaker Osmena has issued a statement that no Filipinos will have seats at the Far Eastern Conference, Senor Manuel Quezon, President of the Senate, having cabled that President Harding did not favor the proposal.

It is expected that the question of internationalising Philippines will be discussed at the Conference.

LAW MAY NOT ATTEND
(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 21.—Reuter's Agency learns that it is now doubtful whether Mr. Bonar Law will be able to attend the Washington Conference. Sir Laming Worthington Evans, the Secretary of State for War, will attend if land disarmament is discussed, but such discussion is doubtful in view of the great opposition of certain quarters.

The impression prevailed here that the Pacific question would be first dealt with, but although nothing definite is known, it looks as if the United States Government now intended that disarmament should be discussed first.

KEENLY DISAPPOINTED

London, Sept. 22.—Keen disappointment is felt in America at Mr. Lloyd George's inability to attend the Washington Conference, which is considered to be more important in the interests of the world than Great Britain's domestic problems.

There are indications that the official efforts will be made from Washington with the object of persuading the Prime Minister to alter his decision.

It is estimated that the Conference will last three months.

The Daily Telegraph, referring to Japan's intensive effort to arrive at a preliminary agreement with America and China on the points in dispute, says that no

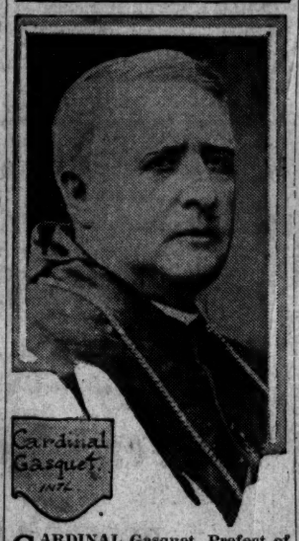
Vatican Prefect Completes History Of Old Manuscripts



CARDINAL Gasquet, Prefect of the Vatican, has spent the last three years in arranging the English manuscripts in the Vatican. These manuscripts number many thousands, and the whole body of them was removed from Italy to France by Napoleon. They were returned after the Treaty of Vienna, but were in such a condition that, until Cardinal Gasquet took charge of assembling them, it was believed the task would never be accomplished. The Cardinal was born in London in 1846.

STR. ANLAN MEETS RAIN OF BULLETS; TURNS BACK

Traffic To Chungking Is Stopped—Steamers Up River Held

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, Sept. 21.—The steamer Anlan attempted to proceed to Chungking this morning but was heavily fusilladed and returned to port in half an hour. Had the Anlan succeeded, the Loong Mow would have followed. The Consular and Naval authorities now advise the suspension of all sailings indefinitely.

Several steamers are reported to be held at Chungking by the Szechuen Government. Thus steamer and junk communication with Chungking is impossible. Passengers, especially ladies, are advised not to proceed here unless on vitally important business as the situation is serious.

(Reuter's Service)

Le Havre, Sept. 21.—General Pershing arrived here today and proceeded to Paris as the guest of the French Government.

Besides attending the selections of the body of America's "unknown soldier," he will inspect the American troops in occupation of Coblentz.

Norman, In Farewell Letter, Says He Brought Gun To Jail; Again Pleads For Girl Held

Amos E. Norman, fugitive jail breaker, has written another letter.

This, the most remarkable of the series that the former soldier of the 15th U. S. Infantry has composed, was received at THE CHINA PRESS at 12:30 o'clock this morning. It is another effort to lift blame from Vera Pohlmann, the girl who is held as an accessory in connection with the escape of Norman and Henry Muncie from the American prison. In the letter Norman says it is the last he will write and he serves notice on the authorities that he is leaving Shanghai.

In his preceding letters Norman did not make particular mention of the manner in which the revolver he and Muncie used had been taken into the jail and it has been held by the American authorities that the weapon was brought to the prison by Vera Pohlman. In this latest letter Norman tells in most interesting detail how he himself smuggled in the revolver after he was arrested and succeeded in deceiving those who searched him.

In the text of the letter, which is given below, the name and address of a man with whom Norman says he had an encounter while he was in the customs service are eliminated, as it is not known certainly that the incident is in accordance with facts.

In writing this letter Norman has followed the American military style by writing the address and giving the subject of the communication. It is particularly interesting to note that he denies utterly the authorship of a typewritten letter bearing his signature which was published in THE CHINA PRESS with the other letter in which Norman describes the interior of the American prison.

The charge against Vera Pohlmann is set for hearing at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl. The girl, who has been under the care of a physician since her arrest in a hospital here, said yesterday that she did not believe that Norman would leave Shanghai until she has been freed of the charge against her and she again denied her guilt.

TEXT OF LETTER

The full text of Norman's latest letter, just as he composed it, is as follows:

Shanghai, China, Sept. 22.

From: Amos. E. Norman, Escaped Prisoner.

To: Editor of THE CHINA PRESS.

Subject: Proof that I always carried a revolver.

Dear Sir.—This my last letter to THE CHINA PRESS as I have tried to prove other things and have partly succeeded, I will try and give proof that I always carried a revolver on my person some times under my arm pit and some times straped to my right leg.

On the day I was arrested by

Escaped Prisoner

AMOS E. NORMAN

Deputy Marshal Gardner I had it straped to my leg as I was mostly naked when he walked in on me. I only had on a pair of trunks, or under drawers which covered my small automatic revolver, at the time I was arrested I was not living with Mrs. Vera Pohlman, altho, in the same house.

Now in most of my Pants you will find a hole in the right side pocket so I could reach in and get gun when needed. I have been shot twice since being in Shanghai and I needed gun every once in awhile.

Now if the Authorities will look in the right hand pocket of the Blue serge suit Muncie was wearing when he was caught you will find that pocket sewed up with thread as it was all I could get on nite I broke jail and left the suit with Muncie as I left him as a woman in Womans clothes—made a pretty good looking woman too.

Now for another pair of pants. If the Authorities will go where I was living they will find in the Dresser drawer one of them and they will find a couple of Pairs of White Flannel Pants with the right hand Pockets cut off and neatly sewed so as to leave a clear opening for a quick draw of the gun, it was one of these pants I wore into the Jail.

If the warder will recolect when I came in he just asked me what I had in my Pockets and he went through one or two of them and when he asked me that question I quickly Pulled right Pocket out to show him there was nothing in that Pocket except a hole. Honest I was scared he was going to reach in that pocket and reach to far so I reached for him, in one of the

Portuguese Here Rush To Offer Aid To Macao Now Menaced By War Cloud

Eighty Shanghai Portuguese, all members of the Portuguese Company, Shanghai Volunteer Corps last night telegraphed Portuguese Consul General A. Casanova who at present is in Macao, the Portuguese Colony in Southern China, in response to his appeal for aid, offering to embark immediately for the south to fight for their flag and their nation's rights in the difficulty which has grown out of the recent attack of Chinese soldiery upon Portuguese water police.

The telegram, which was unanimously agreed upon at a mass meeting of members of the Portuguese company, held at their headquarters last night, after receipt of advice as to the seriousness of the situation in the south, intimated further that Shanghai might mobilise from 200 to 250 fighting men to reinforce the little garrison at Macao.

The contingent, if called upon, will go as individuals, not as a company of the S. V. C. They will not take arms with them, for Macao is well equipped with guns and ammunition. They lack only men.

The trouble at Macao is regarded by Portuguese in Shanghai as of a grave nature. It is believed to have grown out of the long continued dispute between the Portuguese government and the Chinese authorities as to the right of the former to extend its boundaries by reclaiming certain portions of the adjacent Canton river. The Portuguese have claimed the right to reclaim such lands, while the Chinese government has consistently opposed it.

Consul General Casanova who was in Macao before the incidents leading to the present situation, believes the present difficulty to be of a serious nature. He himself has enlisted in the Portuguese colonial forces at Macao as a private for the period of the emergency. He has telegraphed Shanghai Portuguese urging organisation for reinforcement if needed.

The Portuguese garrison at Macao normally numbers approximately 800 men. It is said that it might be mobilised to 1,000. The Chinese military normally maintains a force of 5,000 men just across the river. An extensive recent movement of Southern Chinese troops is believed to have augmented the Chinese force considerably.

Grave Situation Now In Macao

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Sept. 22.—According to the Hongkong Telegraph, a grave situation has developed in Sino-Portuguese relations at Macao, in consequence of Chinese soldiers firing on a Portuguese police-launch on the 16th inst.

It is added that great military activities are being carried out, in view of a possible outbreak of fighting.

New U. S. Ambassador To Japan

CHARLES BEECHER WARREN

AFTER a lapse of nearly eighteen months, during which the interests of the United States in Japan have been in the capable hands of Mr. Edward Bell, as Charge d'Affaires, there is again an American Ambassador in Tokio. Mr. Charles Beecher Warren, successor to Mr. Roland S. Morris, arrived in Yokohama from America on the liner Golden State, which arrived in Shanghai yesterday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morris and their three sons.

Mr. Warren and his party went to Tokio immediately after landing at Yokohama and the new Ambassador plunged at once into his work conferring with members of the Embassy staff.

Chinese Theater Great Exercise For Imagination

By Elsie McCormick

WHY does a villain always have a white nose?

According to Chinese dramatic standards, no villain is really competent to loot the safe, elope with the inn-keeper's daughter, or foreclose the mortgage on the old farm unless he has an albino proboscis. Just how this stage tradition developed is not explained, but in any case, it is at wide variance with the best foreign practice.

On the American stage, the heroine has an excessively white nose and the villain, especially since the coming of prohibition, is gifted with a red one.

The Chinese stage is as full of conventions as San Francisco was at the time of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Most of the scenery is hypothetical. With the possible exception of a hot water bottle salesman in the Sahara Desert, no one has less to do than a Chinese scene shifter.

The New Theater enthusiasts at home who furnish a salon scene with a curtain and a red light are sadly in error if they believe that they have originated anything. In China they have been furnishing the Imperial Palace by taking up an embroidered dragon for the last half dozen centuries.

MASKEE THE SCENERY

It is surprising how little the lack of scenic fixings interferes with one's appreciation of the acting. A doll with a face marked in ink on an expillowcase is dearer to most children than one of the real hair, closing-eye variety, so a play with the scenery left to the imagination is often more effective than the Belasco variety in which they scatter real pollen on the stage because one of the characters has hay-fever. If a sign merely states, "Here is a mountain," one can build the crags according to his own ideas of scenic architecture.

If a painstaking Belasco tries to manufacture a mountain out of brown canvas, some cracker-boxes and much labor, the audience is kept so busy trying to see the edges of the cracker-boxes that it misses the lurid dash to death at the edge of the chasm.

The lack of properties, of course, means a considerable strain on the ingenuity of the actors. But a general tramping across the stage, flecking the dust from his boots with a riding whip conveys as definite an impression as a horse served up on a treadmill a la Ben Hur. Instead of manufacturing a stage lake by pumping water into an enclosure and ruining the leading lady's gowns in the dressing-room below, the Chinese stage-manager comfortably watches the hero balance himself as he steps into mid-air and then settle down, holding two edges of nothingness. In the meanwhile, one of the extras pushes off from the bank with an atmospheric oar, waves it over the planks, and then rolls up his costume as he beaches the craft the other side.

USE IMAGINATION

In a Chinese theater on Honan Road, we once saw an execution effectively shown by the waving of an imaginary axe and the tying of a red string around the victim's neck by a stagehand dressed in black to indicate that he was technically invisible. After the attention of the audience had been distracted by a battle on the other side of the stage, the decapitated gentleman rose languidly, looked around the house to see if any of his friends were there, and then wandered off into the wings apparently as happy as he was before the execution.

The real "lowdown" on the Chinese drama is, however, not as easy to observe. Did you ever try to find out something about a girl you never saw by asking opinions from her best beau, a man who used to be her best beau, her Sunday school teacher, and her little brother? The highly composite picture achieved is a study in uniformity compared with the views of the Chinese drama obtained by reading the opinion of foreign experts. According to one sinologue, Chinese plays worst the villain and fulfill poetic justice as faithfully as the Horatio Alger books or the films shown in the church parlor after Wednesday night service. According to another, they present views that are a scandal among snakes and that deserve immediate attention from the W.C.T.U.

Burst Under Pressure And Flash Detonates Nitrogenous Compound Stored In Warehouse On Grounds Of Fertiliser Factory At Oppau

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 21.—A telegram from Mayence states that the Badische Anilin-fabrik works at Oppau near Frankenthal in the Bavarian Palatinate, where highly explosive nitrogen compounds are manufactured, have been blown up, resulting in many hundreds of casualities.

Mayence, Sept. 21.—The explosions at the Badische Aniline Works at Oppau occurred as the shifts were being changed at eight o'clock this morning. The concussion was felt in Mayence and all windows in Mannheim and Worms were shattered.

The first explosion occurred in a laboratory where 800 men were working. All were instantly killed. Other explosions followed in rapid succession making it impossible to assist the first victims. Several have been killed and 36 injured at Mannheim, 13 miles distant. The roofs of many houses were blown off and a number of people killed at Ludwigshausen, while Oppau has been reduced to a heap of ruins.

FELT 20 MILES AWAY

Later.—The terrible effects of the explosion at Oppau were felt throughout the rich industrial region of Upper Rhineland, causing scores of victims, 10 to 20 miles from the scene of the disaster.

The pretty and flourishing village of Oppau was completely destroyed in a few seconds and reduced to blazing heaps, the shattered walls burying hundreds of helpless victims. The surviving villagers, frenzied with panic, fled helter-skelter.

The district is overhung with dense columns of poisonous smoke which are visible for miles, and which render the ruins at present inaccessible.

The Badische Anilin-fabrik officials declare that there is no possibility of further explosions at Oppau.

The full extent and origin of the disaster are at present conjectural.

WAS POISON GAS WORKS

London, Sept. 22.—It was at the Oppau Works during the war that the Germans made the poison gas which added a new horror to the hostilities. The manufactory has lately been making nitrogen compounds for agricultural fertilisation.

A large hole, 130 yards wide and 49 deep, marks the former site of the gasometers which blew up.

Invaluable assistance was rendered to the survivors by the French military under General Degoutte, the Commander-in-Chief.

200 TONS OF EXPLOSIVE

Ludwigshafen, Sept. 21.—A statement by the management of the Badische factory shows that the explosion occurred at a warehouse containing 200 tons of Ammonium Sulphate compound.

Ludwigshafen resembles a great hospital. The schools have been converted into wards to which all available transport has been commandeered to convey the victims.

Along the roads leading to Oppau and in all the fields around the town lie hundreds of badly injured men, women and children, many of them terribly mutilated and with shattered limbs and in many cases with their eyes torn out.

Hundreds of weeping women and children are flocking to the scene in search of relatives, but a cordon has been drawn around the wrecked works, barring all approach within a radius of half a mile.

Medical detachments are arriving from Ludwigshafen, Mannheim, Heidelberg and other points.

Unofficial estimates place the casualties at over a thousand dead and nearly two thousand injured.

GAS TANKS BREAK

Mayence, Sept. 22.—The catastrophe at Oppau was due to excess of pressure in two adjoining gasometers which caused the explosion. It is now estimated that the death roll may reach 1,500.

Geneva, Sept. 21.—The special commission of the League of Nations today declared itself in favor of the admission of Lithuania to the League, which was recommended by M. Hymans, as likely to facilitate the Polish-Lithuanian negotiations in regard to Vilna.

The Pope has sent a vigorous appeal, through the intermediary of the President of the League of Nations Assembly, to the representatives of the nations assembled at Geneva, for effective aid to be rendered to the starving inhabitants of Russia.

Dr. Nansen (Norway) presented a report on the question of the repatriation of war prisoners and praised the assistance rendered by the great charitable organisations like the International Committee of the American Red Cross.

Vienna Bourse Is Scene Of Disorder

(Reuter's Service)

Vienna, Sept. 21.—Indignant at the recent excessive speculation in exchange a big crowd attempted to storm the Bourse, and several brokers were maltreated and the bank windows smashed.

other Pockets he found small knife. So Mr. Automatic slipped in jail with me.

I wanted to get rid of it and send it home. The reason why I did not give it to Mrs. Pohlman was because if you even show her a gun she almost faints with fright as she has been shot once in the chest and is still carring the Ball. I can give another proof that she is afraid of a gun. There used to be a Miss Sonia living in the house and Mrs. Pohlman would Beg her to come in and take the Gun from under my Pillow and hide it in her room as she was afraid of it even under my Pillow. I don't know where Mrs. Sonia lives now. But Mrs. Pohlman may now.

Another proof that I always carried a gun always that can be proved if the other can not. At number ..... Broadway a man named ..... has a store. Well he had my gun with the muzzle or Business end of it stuck in his ribbs and I took a Big suit case with about $4,900 worth of Cocain away from him. I was then wearing a Customs uniform I got the cocain any way as Mr. ..... did not like the looks of a gun. Just ask him if Norman did not hold him up one night and take his dope away from him.

I held up another man on the same kind of mission another night and got shot for my trouble. But I take my hat off to him he was quicker on the draw than I was. Now I can only say I swear before God Almighty that Mrs. Pohlman did not bring me gun as I always carried it with me.

Do you think I would have committed all these thing and then tell the Public about it, the Police as well, if it were not true that Mrs. Pohlman did not help me to escape in any manner at all.

I will write no more as I have proven every thing as it really happened. And if there is a just God in heaven as the Good Book tells us Mrs. Pohlman will not be prosecuted any more as she is innocent of helping me in any way. I will now say that I never sent a typewritten letter to the press and I don't think the fellow who did write it knows much about it.

If you will compare the typed letter with the ones I have written you will see that the English is not the same. My english is punk, I know, but that is punker.

I will now say Good By to Shanghai for good and all times as it is getting to hot for me here again. I hope and Pray to God that I have proven Mrs. Pohlman did not help me in any way. Good By dear Editor and Public of Shanghai.

Thanking you I am as before
AMOS E. NORMAN,
Escaped Prisoner.

Enclosed find copy of letter I did not write. A. E. N.

P. S Note

If Muncie is asked and he tells the truth he will tell you that I showed the gun to him before Mrs. Pohlman and the other woman came to see me. Also Mr. Nelson Lurton would not let Mrs. Pohlman hand me a package of cigareets thro' the Bars of the cell door on the day I escaped so how the Devil could she hand me a revolver. He should remember giving her a warning not to give me any thing except through him.

Another thing I want to mention, I see that Muncie is charged with assault with intent to kill. He did not beat warder Enberg up with my revolver or any other implent. I did that with my fist and am now carrying a Broken Finger as Muncie will tell you. I will say this much for Warder Enburg that he was the hardest man I ever tried to knock out with my fist.

He did me a great favor by sleeping every night so I could cut the Bars, Muncie only held Enburg while I did the beating on Warder Emburg as he was a to strong and big for one man it took the Both of us to handle him.

Will say good by for last time. Here Amos E. Norman makes his exit out of Shanghai.

Thanking you again
I am This time,
Mr. Amos E. Norman.

Agenda Of Conference Is Handed To Powers

one realises better than the Japanese Premier that it is in Japan's own interest to attend the Washington Conference without encountering the old prejudices and distrust, the persistence of which might hamper and even ruin the general Pacific arrangements now contemplated.

Japanese diplomacy, the paper concludes, by a happy treatment of the Yap question and its frank overture to China, has gone far towards dispelling some of the clouds that only some weeks ago still overhung the China Seas.

TIMES PRAISES JAPAN

London, Sept. 21.—The Times, in the course of a leading article on the subject of the Washington Conference, gladly notes that Japan has recently taken the opportunity of clearing up several contentious questions, which if left unsolved might have embarrassed the discussions at Washington.

The paper says that the friendly arrangement between Japan and America with regard to the Yap question, and the Japanese Government's expression of its intention to restore to China the former German rights in Shantung "are favorable indications of temper," and that when it ultimately pervades the whole policy of Japan, it will secure for her a prosperity which is within the grasp of her gifted and energetic people.

"The conciliatory attitude," the journal continues, "towards China on the one hand and towards the United States on the other will release for wide and brilliant development the potentialities that have thus far received expression in the rapid construction of the Island Empire on modern lines.

"In the consistent pursuit of such a policy, Japan will solve her pressing internal and external problems. We rejoice that on the questions on Yap and Shantung, Japan has displayed such wisdom and foresight that must generously and unhesitatingly be manifested on all sides if the Washington Conference is to be a success. There must be no thwarting of the initiative that President Harding has so boldly taken and to which Japan in these particular instances has so promptly responded," the Times concludes.

STUDENTS ORGANISE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 20.—The Chinese Students' Association in Japan has organised a "National Salvation" Corps and has sent out a circular telegram, protesting against the suggestion of direct negotiations, on the Shantung issue and advocating that it be brought before the Pacific Conference.

"The Society for the Hastening of International Peace," formed by Chinese in Europe, has sent a cablegram to the local Chinese press recommending the appointment of Tang Shao-yi, of the Administrative Councillors of the defunct Military Government of Canton, on the plea that Tang will be able to represent both North and South. The Society suggests that Dr. Wellington Koo and Dr. C. T. Wang be nominated assistant heads of the delegation.

The Ministry of Communications has received a cablegram that about 200 Chinese students on the Eastern coast of the United States organised in Connecticut an eight-day lecture program on issues affecting China with which the Pacific Conference deals. Among the speakers were Dr. Paul S. Reinsch and Dr. John Dewey. The lectures began on Sept. 8.

HUNGARY WILL BE GIVEN 14 DAYS FOR EVACUATION

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 21.—The Ambassadors Conference has not yet despatched an ultimatum to Hungary in regard to the Burgenland dispute, but it is understood that the terms of it are practically settled. Hungary will be given from 10 to 14 days in which to evacuate Burgenland, failing which the Allies will take very severe measures, the nature of which are not yet known.

Movie Man Here Representing Big Interests In U. S.

He comes to the Far East as the personal representative of Thomas H. Ince, Mack Sennett, Hobart Bosworth, J. Parker Read, Jr., Allan Dwan and Maurice Tourneur, and brings the latest film releases from America.

Mr. Owens will remain here at least a week to make connections.

He is stopping at the Astor House.

Chinese Theater Is Training Ground To Help Imagination

ed and the masque, chorus, incidental music and colloquy so strikingly like the Greek that one may properly infer the relationship of the Chinese drama to the Greek-inspired plays of India. Whereupon another writer dons his war-paint to remark that the unities are always grossly violated and the Chinese drama, being Mongolian, is not related to the Greek even by the distance of step-mother three times removed. About the only point they seem to agree upon is the distribution of hot towels among the audience.

Chinese plays are archaic in costuming partly because of the Chinese reverence for everything ancient, and partly because the Manchus prohibited the showing of any historic events that occurred during their regime, therefore obliging the playwrights to draw their material from the earlier dynasties.

One of the factors that has prevented Chinese drama from reaching its highest possibilities is the universal contempt for the actor's profession.

LOW SOCIALLY

Like barbers and yamen runners, the "Brethren of the Pear Orchard", as actors call themselves, were denied the right to compete in the literary examinations. Therefore the Chinese stage has no Henry Irvings or Richard Mansfields or Sarah Bernardts. The Brethren of the Pear Orchard are a meagre set of mummers with undoubted talent in their calling but with habits of life that win them no good conduct medals away from the theater. Many of them were bought in infancy by strolling bands of players and brought up in matshed green-rooms by a decidedly mixed company of guardians.

In a little theater near the center of Shanghai is the nucleus of a dramatic experiment that may revolutionise the Chinese stage. The aim of this theater is to encourage the production of plays representing contemporary Chinese life, to translate the best works of foreign dramatists, and to replace the conventionalised settings and acting by the realism of the West.

During the past few years this theater has presented "The Bohemian Girl," several Shakespearian plays, and "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

LITTLE FAR FETCHED

The good old classic of the Republican election campaign was given with the aid of burnt corp, blood-hounds played by chow dogs, paper snow, and cakes of cheesecloth ice.

If you can imagine a Chinese Little Eva in a blonde wig sitting on the lap of a Chinese Uncle Tom done up in charcoal and asking him in a high falsetto voice about the angels, you are one step ahead of the man who imagined the first dragon.

For several months past this theater has been showing a dramatic version of the late singsong girl murder, the tragic joyride being taken in a real automobile that runs round and round the stage.

Though its present vehicle is hardly edifying, the New Theater Movement promises interesting developments. If only some of the social onus can be removed from the Brethren of the Pear Orchard and if only the Chinese stage folk are not swept too far from their moorings by Western realism, the theater of the future may reach artistic standards undreamed of in the hero drama of long ago.

COMMUNISTS MAY BE EXPELLED BY FRENCH LABORITES

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 21.—The burning question which is now dividing French Labor, namely, the dissension between the moderates and the extremists who favor adhesion to the Moscow International, was dealt with at a meeting of the National Committee of the General Confederation of Labor, which passed a resolution by 68 votes against 55 in favor of compelling the extremists to respect Trade Union discipline as defined at the recent Lille Congress, when a resolution was based implying elimination from the Confederation of so-called revolutionary syndicalist committees.

This resolution may possibly lead to a split in the Confederation and the expulsion of the communists.

JOHNSON WARNED OF DANGER OF NEW INDIA DRY CRUSAD

One-Eyed Prohibitionist Is Tipped By Expert To Conditions In Torrid Land

EVEN PIANOS GET LIQUOR

Wild Men' Ready To Resent Interference With Popular Pastime Of Drinking

London, August 6.—William E. Johnson, the prohibition advocate whose efforts to reform England cost him an eye, has gone on a lecture tour to India forewarned what a "terribly sinister meaning" his doctrine has for "wild men" of the East. When the India expert of the London Daily News heard that Mr. Johnson was leaving he rushed after him to get an interview, but it developed that Mr. Johnson interviewed him and got something in the nature of unusual news.

"It's not a case of butting in," said Mr. Johnson, all smiles as usual. "I am just going to tell what we did in America."

Mr. Johnson had nothing to say except that he was going to India at the invitation of a British organisation, and that the Anglo-Indian Temperance Association, which arranged the tour, has advised its secretaries to organise meetings for him.

The man who knows India by actual experience said that it seemed as if a merciful Providence had sent him to Mr. Johnson in the nick of time. He fervently urged Mr. Johnson not to go.

WILD MEN AWAIT JOHNSON

"There are many wild men in India," he told the prohibitionist, "wild men with trimmings, and they'll hang some of you if you are not careful. These men might have been tame when they were home, but they've been there too long now. There are such things as bank clerks and commercial assistants living five and six together, seeing only each other and catering for themselves. If a guest happened to come and asked for a drink and they didn't have it, they'd drop dead from aggravated mortification, and the fellows would never smile again, unaided.

"In Calcutta the young bloods stand empty bottles on the blades of the ceiling fans and start the current just for something to change the monotony. At a certain hour in the evening they give the piano a bottle of whiskey for itself. The club bars serve roasted nuts, chip potatoes and sandwiches, just so nobody can complain when the sun goes down that they cannot raise a thirst.

"If the country should be dry the honorable khitmagars [stewards] would perish for lack of relaxation, because now any khitmagar caught standing still for more than thirty seconds is considered hopelessly incompetent. Those khitmagars could never count the number of burra pegs [double whiskeys] served of an evening, because they serve too fast for mental arithmetic.

MIGHT SIGNAL FOR A DRINK

"Suppose you, Mr. Johnson were sitting in an office where everything you laid your hands on was hot despite the fans, and there wasn't a breath of air, and when it was too hot even to speak, wouldn't you signal for a drink?"

Mr. Johnson continued packing, chuckling, and with a chuckle told about American soft drinks, putting fear into the eyes of the man who had been in India as he recounted the possible liver troubles resulting from use of alcoholic drinks. But his interviewer persisted:

"Whiskey is regarded as the greatest safeguard against malaria known to the medical profession," he said. "When a mosquito bit a comfortable man in India the mosquito went home in a disgraceful state, put his shoes under the mat, fell upstairs, beat his wife and died the next morning from alcoholic poisoning."

"We have no objection to the use of alcohol as medicine," answered the prohibitionist.

"Well, that's different," said the interviewer. "Perhaps you'll survive. When you call alcohol medicine you won't be disagreed with in India."

Mr. Johnson locked the trunk still with the greatest good nature. "Well, I'll be back in December," he said, "and I hope to find England then dry anyway, for everybody is learning slowly and surely, and a little missionary work even in wild India might lead to ultimate conversion."

Knights Of Columbus To Fight Propaganda

Japan Accused Of Operating Agencies—Officers Of The Order Re-elected

San Francisco, August 3.—If necessary the order of Knights of Columbus will "put its whole force of 800,000 men in the movement to end foreign propaganda in America, be it European or Asiatic," Supreme Master John H. Reddin of Denver told the International Convention of the Knights here today.

"If need be, we will flood every town in the country with pamphlets that tell the true tale of America's great origin and America's greatness, stripped of all manner of European or Asiatic coloring," he said.

Edward F. McSweeney of Boston, Chairman of the National American History Commission of the order, in his first report said that Japan was equally guilty with European nations in operating propaganda agencies in the United States.

DO GREAT SERVICE

"The Knights of Columbus," he said, "can do not greater service to the United States, their country, than to expose and correct the innumerable and insidious attempts of so-called Americanisation societies to poison the wells of historical truth."

Mr. Reddin announced that the following had accepted invitations to serve on the National American History Commission of the order under the Chairmanship of Edward F. McSweeney of Boston: Admiral William S. Benson, Washington; Professor George Derry, Union College, Syracuse; Charles S. McCarthy, Washington, and Maurice Francis Egan, former United States Minister to Denmark. Other names, he said, will be announced as acceptances are received. The commission will have charge of the Knights' $1,000,000 fund for the promotion of American History study written from original sources.

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of the Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco, in an address on divorce, said that the "laxness of certain American divorce laws is a national shame. The tendency is to treat divorce as a national idiosyncracy when in reality it is a national menace."

SEND POPE CABLE

A cablegram was sent to the Pope by the convention telling of its readiness to undertake welfare work in Italy as requested by the Pontiff.

The entire administration of the Knights was re-elected, including James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia, Supreme Knight; Martin H. Carmody, Grand Rapids, Mich., Deputy Supreme Knight; William J. McGinty, New York, Supreme Secretary; Joseph C. Pelletier, Boston, Supreme Advocate; Daniel J. Callahan, Washington, Supreme Treasurer, and these International directors: William P. Larkin, New York; William J. Mulligan, Hartford; John F. Martin, Green Bay, Wis.; Luke E. Hart, St. Louis, and John A. O'Dwyer, Toledo.

Latin Quarter Artists Bar The Grand Salon

Paris, August 20.—Artists of Montparnasse and Montmarte, the two widely separated artistic colonies of Paris, have decided to boycott the Grand Salon and hold their own exhibitions.

The Montparnasse exhibition is being held in a cafe, where the paintings are hung amid beer and "watch your coat" signs. The artists of Montmarte exhibit their work on the pavement outside the Moulin de la Galettes on the top of Montmarte Butts.

CHAMPAGNE FOR HIS SON'S DIPLOMA

Pres. Millerand Scolded His Old Friend Who Celebrated Success

Paris, July 30.—There was considerable liveliness around the family dinner table at the Elysee Palace on the eve of President Millerand's departure for Rambouillet. The President's youngest son, Jacques, had just completed with a brilliant standing, his studies at the Lycee Henri IV., where his father was a pupil before him. Gossip has it, however, that President Millerand frowned when he learned that his oldest friend, M. Persil, has already celebrated the event with Jacques.

M. Persil, who is a Deputy and a thorough classical scholar, as well as a wine grower, was so delighted at young Millerand's success in obtaining his bachelor's diploma in Greek, that he took Jacques straight from the examination room to his own flat and initiated him into the thrills of a particularly heady champagne of his own growing.

The experience was new to the boy, which may explain his enthusiasm when he attempted to communicate it to his family when he reached the Elysee. President Millerand is a very sober-minded man, and despite the fact that such indulgence was justified by the occasion he soundly scolded Persil when they met later.

Famous Fat Men's Club Is Back On A Peace Basis

Paris, August 6.—The return to a peace basis has been finally marked by the reappearance of a noted club known as "Cent Kilos," whose more than 300 members weigh more than 225 pounds each. Before the war the attendance at the annual gatherings in which the athletic programe was confined to fat men's events frequently numbered 500. But life in the trenches and long marches as well as corned beef diet, which even weight did not preclude under the conscript system, brought nearly half the membership below "cent kilos."

They have engaged a restaurant in the Rue Folies Mericourt, where their presence on Sunday noons is sufficient to attract hundreds anxious to learn the secret of putting on flesh, but the formula is so varied that those who have tried it declare that fat is simply a natural gift not to be coaxed by artificial measures.

"Don't worry, you might be thin," suggests a placard over the cachier's desk, and in order to prevent worrying all food prices are carefully omitted from the menus and discussions of the high cost of living are vigorously repressed. As to the idea that fat men are always overloaded with humor, the "Cent Kilos" refuse to support it for the weekly gatherings are always notable for extreme solemnity, as though the members were impressed by the necessity of imbibing two litres of heavy red wine allotted to each member besides five courses of substantial proportions which are considered essential to maintain adiposity.

Thief And "Fence" Get Terms In Jail

A busy Chinese thief and his "fence" were sentenced to five years and six months respectively in the Mixed Court yesterday. The thief was arrested a week ago as a suspicious character. Investigation disclosed 14 counts of larceny, mostly for thefts of electric fans and sewing machines.

The "fence" conducted a barber shop. He disposed of six fans and machines for the thief. He declared he did not know the property was stolen. The thief had 11 previous convictions against him. The total value of the stolen goods amounted to more than $700. It has all been recovered by the police excepting six electric fans.

IT IS DEATH TO GROW POPPY IN SINKIANG PROV.

Peking, Sept. 20.—General Yang Tseng-hsun, Tuchun of Sinkiang, in a telegram to the Cabinet dated September 17 says that the failure to suppress opium cultivation in China has seriously affected the country's prestige.

The Government's plan to send commissioners into the interior to ascertain where opium is being grown and where injurious drugs are being sold is excellent, and he will give it every possible assistance. No poppy, however, is being grown in Sinkiang. He has inflicted the death penalty for such cultivation. He had been informed that the British Vice-Consul, who recently journeyed to Kashgar, had not seen a trace of poppy. The Vice-Consul traveled via Akehsu, Kucheh and Yining last month.

General Yang concludes with the assertion that he will guarantee that no poppy is being grown in Sinkiang province and that he will be personally responsible for the trust of this statement.

WADDELL SCORNS DISHONOR CHARGE

American Engineer In Letter To Association Refutes Accusations Of Bridge Body

Peking, Sept. 16.—Specific and detailed refutation of the serious charges of dishonorable conduct brought against Dr. J. A. L. Waddell, the eminent American engineer and specialist in bridge construction, by his French, Belgian and English colleagues on the Yellow River Bridge Commission, is contained in a letter from Dr. Waddell to the Association of Chinese and American Engineers. This letter was published by the association today with the full approval of the Minister of Communications.

This association has from the outbreak of the controversy supported Dr. Waddell in his differences with his colleagues on the commission. There are five members of this commission, one eminent engineer from each of the following countries: America, France, Belgium, England and Japan. The Japanese member has remained neutral. The commission has been charged with the selection of the winning plans in the competition for building the new bridge over the Yellow River.

Dr. Waddell says that although he had entered plans of his own in this competition, these were dropped as soon as he was appointed a member of the commission by the Chinese Government. He asserts that his colleagues favored the selection of a plan that would cost $1,500,000 more than is necessary and would not be the best bridge possible.

British Women's Assn.

The General Meeting of the British Women's Association lately referred to in our columns will be held at 5 p.m. on Thursday, October 13 in the Lyceum Theater, when it is hoped that as many members as possible will make a point of being present.

The object of the meeting is to enable members to co-operate with their Executive Committee by expressing their views and opinions regarding the general development, management and financial arrangements of the Association.

Members are most cordially invited to forward constructive suggestions relative to the working of the Association to the Secretary at 9 Kiukiang Road on or before October 1. Such suggestions will then be carefully considered and resolutions on them prepared so that they may in due course be submitted to the meeting.

When sending in suggestions, members are asked to state whether they themselves will be willing to speak at the meeting, so that in the event of their not wishing to do so arrangements may, if possible, be made for their support otherwise.

The Association has been in existence for 6 months and, with a membership of over 900, is unquestionably in a most flourishing condition. The members' rooms at headquarters are now available at all hours of the day for rest, reading and meetings.

Tea is served daily from 4 to 6 p.m. and the reading room is well supplied with papers, magazines, etc.

The lending library, with some 500 volumes, is constantly being added to and is now housed in the Secretary's office which is open from 10 to 12 and from 4 to 6 daily, with the exception of Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

Mrs. Cromarty, who has recently been appointed to the Secretaryship of the Association, will be glad to see any member who wishes to consult her during those hours.

A register of members requiring houses or rooms is kept in the office and ladies having either to let at any time are earnestly requested to communicate with the Secretary and if possible to place them at the disposal of their fellow members. Boarding houses in any part of Shanghai are invited to register their terms and accommodation with the Association.

There is no doubt that co-operation on these and other lines might in time be very effectively developed in so large an organisation as the British Women's Association.

News Brevities

The Chinese Overseas Association has appealed to the other local organisations to join in sending a cablegram to Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to the Court of St. James, urging him to persuade the British Government to have the school registration law in the Straits Settlements abolished because the law imposes great hardships on the Chinese schools. The association states that by way of protest the schools in the Straits have gone on strike.

Mukden And Chihli Tuchuns Want Premier To Hold Post

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 20.—Both General Chang Tso-lin and General Tsao Kun, on learning of the Premier's intention to resign telegraphed urging him to remain in office. Since then Mr. Chang Chih-tan, Minister of Communications went to Paotingfu and conferred with General Tsao, while Mr. Wang Nai-ping went to Mukden to report fully to General Chang. Mr. Wang arrived in Mukden last evening and no further word has been received from General Chang.

Mr. Chang Chih-tan returned from Paotingfu last night and went to Suaiyuan today to take part in the official opening of the Peking-Suaiyuan Railway. Mr. Chang's absence from Peking today is looked upon in Chinese circles as an indication that the Cabinet crisis is likely to be settled without the resignation of the Premier.

Premier Chin, however, again submitted his resignation to the President this morning. This will no doubt again be refused and the question of its final acceptance or rejection will be arranged within the next few days.

Briefly the position appears to be that while the President is willing to accept the resignation of the Premier, after a sufficient number of rejections to comply with official custom, Generals Chang Tso-lin and Tsao Kun want General Chin to remain in office.

If General Chin persists in retiring a trial of strength will occur between the nominee of the President and that of General Chang Tso-lin. As followers of the President Messrs. Chou Shu-mow, Chu Chi-chien and Chien Nung-hsun are mentioned while Mr. Wang Nai-ping would doubtless be the choice of General Chang, but the President's supporters are not anxious for the post of Premier, knowing that the crisis has been brought about by a dire shortage of funds in the exchequer.

The retention of Mr. Pan Fu is said to depend entirely upon the Premier's action. Mr. Pan Fu stands well with the Premier, whereas several other members of the Cabinet are very dissatisfied with the present financial conditions.

Dr. Yen's intention to resign is based on the absence of proper financial provision for the Delegation to Washington and the Premier's dictum that the personnel of the Delegation must be cut down by at least fifty percent.

As passages by sea had been booked for a party of upwards of a hundred people and the work divided up between those who had been notified of their inclusion, Dr. Yen's arrangements were upset and he determined to resign. His present intention is to retire both from the Foreign Office and the Delegation, but enormous pressure continues to be brought upon him with regard to both posts.

It is still hoped that the necessary financial arrangements will be made and that he will reconsider his decision in both cases, but as far as can be seen at present there is little ground for such optimism.

Chao Accused Of Favoring Japan

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, September 19.—Chao Heng-ti, according to the letter of an impartial observer in Changsha received here shows a rather definite leaning toward the Japanese, although his attitude in this matter is not that of the Hunanese people.

The letter says that on Sept. 11, General Chao Heng-ti gave a somewhat hilarious luncheon to certain prominent foreigners in Changsha, and during the latter part of the luncheon, when he was apparently in condition to express only his real feelings, General Chao arose and proposed toasts to his Imperial Japanese Majesty; His Highness, the President of the United States, and His Britannic Majesty, in the order named.

General Chao Heng-ti finished his academic education in Japan and it is felt that his action in giving Japan precedence in the order of the toast was an indication of his relative estimation of the three countries concerned.

General Chao Heng-ti's attitude in this respect does not represent the sympathies of the masses of the Hunanese, the letter concludes.

Baron Shibusawa's party of business men which is also proceeding to America will include Mr. J. Soyeda, Mr. Z. Horikoshi, the well-known silk merchant, and Mr. Zumoto, journalist.

DESTROYER BEATS HURON NINE 5-1 IN A CLOSELY CONTESTED GAME; FLAGSHIP BLOWS UP

Flotilla Sailors Say They Are Playing For Cup: "What Cup?" Opponents Ask

If real college or sailor baseball rooting and persistency counts for shucks any more the nine of the 26th Destroyer Division will soon be in possession of the American Asiatic Fleet Baseball cup now held by the team of the Flagship Huron.

The 26th men beat the Huron team at the race course yesterday 5-1 for the fourth successive time this season. They meet again on Saturday and Sunday. If the destroyer men have their way about it the three games now being played in Shanghai will decide the ownership of the fleet cup for the next year at least.

When asked about the trophy yesterday, however, men off the flagship refused to discuss the possibility of its passing from the Flagship to a destroyer division on the present series. They are merely playing baseball, they said. The cup is not at stake.

Destroyer sailor-fans turned out at the ball park yesterday en masse. They brought with them banners, horns, claxons, and lusty cheering sections. Their support of their players had a big effect on the game: The destroyer men were always confident and sure. Their "panning" of the Huron men had its effect. Draper blew up in the seventh, and the whole team went to pieces behind him.

A sailor-scribe off one of the smaller boats contributed the following write-up of the game. He lead it off with a big headline: "Championship Cup In Sight For the 26th Division Baseball Team."

The Huron after several challenges mustered their team against the 26th Destroyer Division yesterday and again fell under the arm of Hopkins to the tune of five to one.

The game was evenly matched until the fifth inning when the Huron scored Dougherty scoring their only run. The game was very fast until the seventh when the destroyer division started a rally by letting Northrup get on due to error on Draper. Fretag following with a pinch hit that Roberts fumbled giving Fretag first and Northrup taking third. Dunlap came through with a two bagger scoring both Northrup and Fretag, lucky seventh.

After the rally of the seventh Hopkins got on with a safe single, Morehead following with another and Hopkins taking third, Curry came through with another single scoring Morehead and Curry. Northrup came through with a fluke two base hit on Horner's misjudgment of his high infield fly, scoring Curry making three runs in the eighth.

This makes the seventeenth straight victory for the 26th and they can prove by their ability and showing that they are without a doubt the champ of all Naval vessels under the American flag in Asiatic waters.

The 26th and the Huron will clash again on Saturday and Sunday afternoons allowing the fans who were unable to attend yesterday's game to witness another good and well played game.

S'HAI BOWLERS WIN AND LOSE IN HANKOW GAMES

Beat Customs Club 24-16 But Lose To Cercle Gaulois 20-19

Hankow, Sept. 19.—The Interport lawn bowls game was played on Friday between the following teams:

Shanghai.	Cercle Gaulois.
Smyth	Rowland
Chilvers	Fanstone
Phillip	Bull
Poignand	Lester

Possibly the greatest game of lawn bowls ever seen at Hankow. The game opened under threatening weather conditions, a slight rain falling; but it fortunately stopped and excellent conditions ensued. All of the eight bowlers were at the top of their form. Ends had to be measured and Mr. Kirknope, the official referee, called on for his decision.

Shanghai opened with two points at the first end, then the local exponents captured the next three ends, and from here onwards the game was of a ding-dong exciting character up to the last thrilling end, when the score stood Shanghai 19 points, Cercle Gaulois 20 points. It will be noticed that Shangha. scored at eleven ends and the Cercle Gaulois at nine ends. Lester and his merry band are to be congratulated on their victory.

On Saturday the Race Club played Shanghai. The home team let off, getting up to 11, at which point it seemed they were on the high road to winning. Shanghai, however, then got a start, pulled up level, and afterwards won with a score of 22 against 14, the Race Club only scoring 3 in the last half of the game.

A very enjoyable dinner was given at the Race Club to the visitors in the evening, 50 persons being present. Beside the presentation of silver spoons to the winning team and the interesting speeches made on the occasion, a full musical program was carried through. The assembly broke up about mid-night.

Shanghai vs. Customs Club

The following were the teams in yesterday's game:

Shanghai vs. Customs Club
Lloyd	Gorman
Chilvers	Mottram
Phillips	Mitchell
Smyth (skip)	Boyack (skip)

The above match being the last of the official series of Interport fixtures was played before a large attendance of spectators, and resulted in a win for the visitors by eight shots, the score being Shanghai 24 and the Customs Club 16. This event was the first appearance in Interport Lawn Bowls of the Customs Club, and they marked their first attempt by acquitting themselves in a commendable manner against the pick of Shanghai.

Shanghai gave their customary exhibition of how the game should be played.

A friendly game will be played today: Shanghai against the Recreation Club.

FOOTBALL FAN HAS A PLAN TO STIR INTEREST

Summarises Faults Of League Management And Offers A Cure

"Most people were very much disappointed by the half-hearted way in which league football in Shanghai limped through the first half of the season 1920-1921 and collapsed altogether in such a depressing manner during the latter half."

The statement is the introductory paragraph of a letter received by THE CHINA PRESS yesterday from a football enthusiast signing himself "Play On." It is considered of sufficient value and interest to take out of the correspondence column. The letter continues:

"As one interested now, and for many years past, I venture to suggest that the following were among the causes to bring about a state of affairs which all footballers will wish to improve.

(1) Too many clubs in the 2nd Division of the League.

(2) Too few clubs in the First Division of the League.

(3) Too great a preponderance of strong players distributed among the one or two senior clubs.

(4) Too much indifference on the part of players and clubs as to the obligations of sportsmanship to one's opponents and to one's own side. This is exemplified by the numerous occasions on which players and even whole sides failed to turn up on a showery day, or when social or other "soft" functions clashed with football matches offering little change of a gallery.

HERE'S THE REMEDY

"If my view is correct, then: as to (1) and (2), the remedy lies in the hands of the league executive.

"This august body appears to be snowed under by pamphlets, constitutions, books of rules, Forms A.B.C. etc., but if it can grope its way out and begin to function before anyone else has time to put into operation the rules devised for its guidance, then there is no reason why (1) and (2) should not be disposed of.

"As to (3), it would appear that only one course is open, to appeal to the senior clubs to refrain from the practice of encouraging outstanding and promising playing members of smaller clubs joining them.

"We see, so often, a small but promising club start a season and do creditably till the time when one or two of its star performers are lured away. The team then, weakened and discouraged, goes to pieces on the field and finally the club crumbles away altogether, or becomes a "rabbit" for point-hunters.

MUST HELP SMALL CLUBS

"It is better that the smaller clubs should be fostered and helped, rather than be the recruiting ground for the bigger clubs; better to have half a dozen or so good teams in the first division and half a dozen or so good junior teams in the second, rather than have two teams in Shanghai which,

GENERAL NOTES

The competition for the British and Overseas Cups on Sunday last was favored with excellent weather. Thanks to the courtesy of the International Recreation and Shanghai Golf Clubs, the distance judging portion was undertaken at Kiangwan.

All the teams entered into the spirit of the changes introduced into the shooting part of the program and fire unit commanders found plenty to do. Many of them were prone to make too much use of field glasses. It should be remembered that gazing through these for long periods tires the eyes.

Field glasses should only as a rule be used after the naked eye has picked up the direction of the object in view, and should not be used for one moment longer than is necessary. Now that we have made a start with some real fire control in competitions, we shall next see the fire-unit commanders behaving as they would do in nine cases out of ten on service, i.e. lying as flat on their stomachs and showing as little of themselves to the enemy as they can. This generally means that they must be in line with their men and that the latter must pass orders along the line.

There seems at the moment to be rather an excess of heat in the air, in the way of talk and correspondence regarding service in the corps. 'Hot air,' if taken in small doses, may be both stimulating and humorous. Members who have the best interests of the corps at heart would do well to treat disgruntled maniacs and 'leg-pullers' with humorous indulgence, and to remember that they themselves can best help the corps by becoming as efficient as possible.

All ranks of the corps will have been pleased to see that Sir George Kirkpatrick has been promoted Lieutenant General, but will be sorry to hear that this necessitates his vacating the China Command on November 30.

MARITIME COMPANY

The Maritime Company held their dinner at Shepherd's Cafe on Friday last, the 18th inst. Mr. Charlesworth, the manager put up a tasty menu. Many speeches were made to which Captain Dixon replied. The chief business of the evening, appointing new committees for the ensuing year, took place after the dinner.

The following committees were appointed:

Musketry Committee.—Lieut. F. W. Snape, Sergt. Knibb, Sergt. Reeves, Gunner Jensen.

Recruiting Committee.—Sergt. Major Tobias, Gunner Yates, Gunner De Colbert.

Entertainment Committee.—Gunner Levy, Gunner Madeira.

Treasurer.—Corpl. David.

Secretary.—Sergt. Maj. Tobias.

Asst. Secretary.—Gunner Sanches.

Press and Bulletin.—Sergt. Major Tobias,

Assistant.—Corpl. David.

This concluded a very pleasant evening. Thirty-two members attended the dinner and the entertainment committee have promised that more of these dinners will be held in the future.

Thanks to the energies of Gunner Yates and De Colbert recruits are coming in splendidly, but nevertheless the company can take a few more and any able bodied men of good character, of American or European nationality can receive all information by applying to Company Sergt.-Major Tobias, care of N. Lazaras, 17 Nanking Road.

The Maritime Company will be represented in the American Cup by Lieut. Snape and Sergt. Reeves, the third man will be chosen from Gunners Jensen and Willder and C. S. M. Tobias.

The Maritime Bulletin will be published on October 1. The Bulletin has already become popular and numerous enquiries from Volunteers and non-Volunteers have been received by the editor asking for copies.

SHANGHAI SCOTTISH

Apart from the recruiting campaign, the company has entered into a quiet period prior to the commencement of the training season. The recruiting campaign, though only launched last evening, has already been the means of bringing into the company several new members and there is every prospect that before many weeks have passed it will be necessary to form a third platoon. The aim of the company is to have four full platoons and this should be accomplished as there is an excellent feeling in the company and every member may be looked upon as a recruiting agent.

The Trained Men's Course has been fixed for November and, as the Company has devoted considerable time to the practices in this course, it is hoped the musketry returns will be better than last year. Shooting has improved and this was adequately demonstrated in the Overseas Cup when the Scottish teams brought the company second place despite the fact that the best shots unavoidably could not take part.

The American Cup team has been at practice and the returns made of the championship course were highly satisfactory. If the record can be maintained the chances of being well placed are rosy.

U. OF WASH. NINE LOSES 1ST GAME TO WASEDA, 1-0

American Pitcher Leonard Loses Control In Third Inning

Tokio, Sept. 18.—The crack Waseda University team defeated the University of Washington nine 1 to 0 in the opening game of the series in Japan at the Waseda diamond yesterday afternoon. The greater part of the game was featureless. Three hits a piece, the longest a two-base grounder by Kubota, three sacrifices, one stolen base and a couple of wild innings in the box for Leonard, the American pitcher, sum up the contest.

Leonard pitched a good game except in the third inning, when temporary loss of control coupled with a bad break in the infield gave the lone score to Waseda. With one down Leonard walked Ishii and then Taniguchi. Kubota sent a grounder to Toriance at short who raced to second, putting Taniguchi out. In an effort to make a double play he threw wild to Barrett at first. Kubota was safe, and Ishii reached home with the only score of the game.

Washington's best chance to score came in the fifth inning when two of the three hits were secured. Harper led off with a single. Barrett struck out, but Land got another single. Then both Leonard and Welts flied out.

The play was slow. Tominaga at second for Waseda played the only flashy game, but there was little chance for good fielding as both teams had difficulty in getting more than a pop fly or a weak grounder.

The Washington team will meet the Keio University team at the Waseda diamond this afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock sharp.

The box score and summary of the game follow:

AMERICAN CO., S.V.C., GOES INTO FOURTH ANNUAL CAMP AT RIFLE RANGE TONIGHT

Sixty Men Will Turn Out; New Rifles To Be Used In Annual Shoot

Everything is set and the men are on their toes for the Fall In at the rifle range at 6 o'clock tonight opening the fourth annual camp. After the inspection by Lieut. Olsen, tents will be assigned and the company will take on the life of the Regulars for three days.

About 60 men have signed up this year, more than ever before, and most of them will be in camp for the full time. With such enthusiasm for a starter, and a little good weather, a successful time is assured.

Camp will be a strictly military affair from Reveille to Taps, beginning with the Fall In tonight and the posting of the Guard to the breaking of camp Monday morning. Much of the time will be devoted to shooting but drill in the Manual of Arms and Foot Movements will not be neglected.

To the men of the company, the most important event will be the fourteenth annual rifle meeting. With the new Lee-Enfield rifles and better ammunition, some good scores should be made and everyone is trying for Marksman. Some of the American firms and individuals have been generous and the prize fund is ample. With the scoring arrangement adopted by the committee, everyone will have a chance at the prizes for no one can win more than one.

The smoker and program being arranged by Lieut. Sauer promises well for there are rumors of Glemby, Graham-Barrow, James, Jack Raynes, Silas Brothers, Wilhelmi and even the orchestra from the Huron. And Mess Sgt. Engstrom will do his bit from the kitchen end.

The tiffin on Sunday will be a notable one for in addition to our old friends, Consul-General Cunningham, Consul Perkins, Colonel Marr-Johnson and Captain Diniz, there will be with us Admiral Strauss and his chief of Staff, Commander Beck, Captain Cone of the Huron and Mr. Lyman of the Municipal Council. Invitations have been sent to others but at this time, no replies have been received. Men of the company and the guests as well, are requested to be on hand promptly at 12 noon as a group picture will be taken at that time.

Keen interest is being shown in the American Cup competition, the cup for which, as well as miniatures for the winning team and the high gun man, is given by the American Company. Although Major Ransom and Lieut. Hykes are not with us now, the American company will have a first class team and will make it interesting for aspiring winners.

The American company will be at home to its friends on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5, when it is hoped that many will be present. After tea, the prizes for all competitions will be distributed.

The junior officers of the American flotilla have been invited to visit the camp after dinner Sunday evening. Those who were in on the fun when the officers came out last year will surely be on hand again and the new fellows are warned to be present. Suitable entertainment will be provided.

Camp will break early Monday morning, in plenty of time for the men to get home and tidy up before reporting at the office.

CUSTOMS CO. IS HOLDING SHOOT ON WEDNESDAY

Seven Cups To Be Disposed Of In Autumn Rifle Meeting

The autumn rifle meeting of the Customs Company, S.V.C., will be held Wednesday, with a program of eight events. The prize list includes seven cups presented by departments and members of the Shanghai customs: and the exceedingly generous support given by practically every member of the local customs staff affords proof—if any were needed—of the interest taken in the company, especially by those who are prevented by "anno domini" and other just causes from becoming active members of the corps. The company is glad of the opportunity to express its gratitude for this interest and practical support.

Among the items for Wednesday is the Coming-of-Age Cup, presented by Mrs. Lowder to celebrate the company's 21st anniversary. It is interesting to note that the present president of the company was largely instrumental in forming it in 1900 and had as his "covering file" the present Inspector General. This cup will be shot for by 21 members drawn by lot on the day of the meeting: each member so drawn will then nominate a lady and the successful lady will receive a souvenir. Conditions of firing: 210 yards, 21 seconds, unlimited number of rounds. Another lady's nomination item—the Ladies' Prize—will be shot for by members and ex-members of the Company in the afternoon.

The proposal to have a definite entry competition open to members of other units of the corps has fallen through owing to the meeting being held on a holiday which few firms and business houses will enjoy. But members of any unit of the defense forces of Shanghai are invited to take part in a pool bull competition, for which a target will be reserved throughout the day.

The president is entertaining competitors and guests to tiffin at the range on the 28th. The company will be at home during the afternoon, when members of the service and their lady friends will be specially welcome. Tea will be served from 3:30 p.m. and the Municipal Band will be in attendance.

The following has been received from the commandant:

"Will you please convey my congratulations to the team from No. 2 platoon, Customs Co. for the excellent score they put up for the Overseas Cup on Sunday last? I quite realise how your unit was handicapped in entering for this competition by the difficulties of getting all your best men to attend by the international composition of the unit and by the fact that you have at the moment scarcely enough personnel for two platoons. You have the satisfaction of knowing that No. 2 platoon team made a better score than any other for the Overseas Cup. The F. U. C. judged his distances very well."

"B" Co., British, Annual Rifle Meet Set For Oct. 1-2

The annual rifle meeting of the "B" Co., British, S.V.C. will take place on Saturday and Sunday, October 1 and 2. Tiffin will be served at the rifle range at 1 p.m. on the 2nd inst. and a unit photograph will be taken afterwards. The program consists mainly of service events and the bulk of the company will fire their efficiency Course commencing at 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 1.

All members of the unit are expected to enter for this meeting which in addition to the interest always evinced in competitive events, will be good practice for the corps annual rifle meeting which will take place later on in October.

Those members who have not yet sent in their entrance forms are requested to do so as soon as possible so that the squadding lists, etc. may be compiled. It is hoped the usual good support will be given to the ladies prize.

The following members will represent the unit in the American Cup competition to be fired next Sunday at 1:45 p.m.—Captain Melville, Sergt. Main and Pte. J. R. Main.

The winning of the Overseas Cup by this unit was particularly welcome as they finished second last year in the same competition. This year's team, which was commanded by Lieutenant L. M. Beytagh, was composed of Sergts. Main, Ellis and Taylor, Copl. Gow, Ptes. Davis and Davie.

Football Fan Has A Plan To Stir Interest

through their size and by their appetites, weaken all others.

"As to (4), if selection committees would work for the good of football first and then for own particular clubs, and would select only the men who want to play for the game itself, then (4) would be disposed of.

"If a man will play only when it is fine weather, on his favorite ground and before a gallery, then he should be dropped.

"Teams should be picked from the keen men who love the game itself. Such men will provide the best and the cleanest football, and will provide it regularly. A man who would have to be persuaded to play should never be considered against one who is keen.

"Sir, thank you for your courtesy and the use of your columns. I apologise if I have appeared to lay down the law, but football means so much to the making of our men both in body and spirit, that one may be excused if one is perhaps overzealous—surely such is better than indifference."

Other Princes Not To Contest Serbian Throne

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 21.—The Serbian semi-official news agency denies the reports appearing in foreign newspapers to the effect that the question of the succession to the throne of Serbia remains open because of the claims of Prince George, the eldest son of the late King Peter. Prince George, the brother of King Peter, Prince Arsene, and his son, Prince Paul, have been amongst the first to take the oath of allegiance to the new King Alexander.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Congress has re-assembled and President Harding has sent a messenger with the German, Austrian and Hungarian Treaties.

Senator Lodge had previously conferred with Mr. Harding. It is understood it has been arranged to have the Treaties referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

AMERICAN $ GOES FAR IN GERMANY

Banker Moseley Got A Haircut 6 Cents And Victoria For Another 6

MANSION $450 A YEAR

Things Higher In Paris; Exchange Must Be Adjusted To Help Trade

New York, July 31.—One of the things which strikes the traveler abroad is the purchasing power of his American dollar. Translated into marks, for instance, it brings a return in commodities or services far out of proportion. This is true in practically every country of Europe, where the dollar demands a heavy premium over the depreciated currencies in circulation there. Mercer P. Moseley, Vice President of the American Exchange National Bank, who has just come back from a trip which took him through the principal countries of Europe, gives an interesting account of his observations of what the dollar will buy abroad.

"To an American," he says, "many things are ridiculously low when bought with marks that cost us about a cent and a half or three quarters. For $100, I got, in Berlin, 7,300 marks. An excellent room in one of that city's leading hotels is 100 marks a day. A hair cut in the same hotel is 4 marks or 6 cents. A prominent Berlin business man took me around to illustrate the rental and value of unimproved and improved real estate. He showed me his home—located in one of the city's choicest and most select streets—thirteen magnificent rooms, with baths. The rental was 30,000 marks a year, or $450 in American money. I rode in a victoria from my hotel to the Winter Garden, a distance of about half a mile. The charge was 4 marks, or 6 cents. At Cologne, my room in the leading hotel cost 33 marks, or about 50 cents a day. My breakfast, which consisted of peaches, cherries, two eggs, coffee, cream, rolls, butter and jam was 22 marks, or about 33 cents—all much too cheap if world trade is to function again.

"Ordinary labor in Germany receives 300 to 500 marks a week while the Government is doling out a pittance of 11 marks a day to the unemployed.

"By comparison, prices to Americans in France are much greater than in Germany. The depreciated French franc sounds like it involves the possibility of happy days in Paris at minimum cost. Forget it. The simple expedient of charging a greater number of francs is applied with a precision that makes it appear to be a scrupulously rehearsed national policy. For a room and a bath at a good hotel I paid 175 francs.

"It is folly to think that the flow of international trade can be re-established with exchanges as they stand."

Photographs Of Ningpo Flood Disaster Which Rendered Thousands Of People Homeless; Drowning Hundreds

The recent floods have affected seven districts of Ningpo Prefecture, namely Chin Hsien, Tzu Ch'i, Feng Hua, Chen Hai, Hsiang Shan, Ting Hai and Nan T'ien but the districts that suffered the most were Chin Hsien, Feng Hua and Tzu Ch'i.

The pictures here illustrate only three of the many hundreds of pathetic scenes at Chin Hsien. The upper picture shows the Chang Tsun village in the section known as Huang Chia Che Tou where out of a total population of only 150 persons 117 were drowned. A big coffin is seen at the right in which bodies were collected. Most of the buildings had been undermined, and these are the remaining ones.

The middle picture shows the meeting of two torrents at Huang Chia Che Tou which jeopardised it efforts to check the onrushing floods.

The lower picture shows the dilapidated condition of the Ching Chiang Yeh village after the visitation of the floods.

We are asked to state that contributions, however small, will be gratefully received at the Ningpo Food Relief Association located in the Ningpo Club Building at No. 4 Thibet Road, Shanghai.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company state as follows in their coal market report of yesterday:

JAPAN COAL

There has been no business done locally since last writing and the market continues very dull; stocks on the spot are now slightly above the average while deliveries have been going on pretty much as usual.

In Japan the market is firmer owing to restricted output and increased demand.

FUSHUN COAL

No change.

FUCHUNG ANTHRACITE COAL

There is no change in the prices of this coal but stocks are arriving more freely and we expect to see an increased demand as the Winter season approaches.

KAIPING COAL

There is a little change since our last report. The country districts around Shanghai and lower Yangtsze Ports are still flooded and a good long period of fine dry weather is necessary before boats can proceed as usual and normal conditions prevail. The result is an accumulation of stocks on the Shanghai wharves which will take some little time to work off. The market however remains in a healthy condition with prices pretty well maintained.

FRENCH TRADE FALLS

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 21.—It is officially stated that imports into France for the first eight months of 1921 amounted to 13,607,000,000 francs as compared with 34,342,000,000 francs for the corresponding period of 1920. Exports amounted to 14,086,000,000 francs as compared with 17,234,000,000 francs for the same period last year.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company state as follows in their freight market report of yesterday:

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

TO UNITED KINGDOM AND CONTINENT

Conditions on this berth remain as we last reported and we are afraid there is every likelihood of their continuing—so that prospects for the Autumn can hardly be called encouraging.

TO U. S., OVERLAND AND VIA CANALS

The situation here as regards exports is worse than it has ever been and steamers are receiving very poor support as far as Shanghai and North China cargo is concerned; general cargo is practically "dead" and there is only a little tea going forward now.

The Trans-Pacific Freight Bureau has put the "Ocean" rate on tea down to G.$6.00 per ton, temporarily for the balance of September and October.

COASTWISE

Trade is very dull on the China coast and there is little or no change to report since last writing. There are signs, however, of cargo moving from the Northern Ports early in October for which a few fixtures have already been made.

TIRES AT BARGAIN PRICES

Usually a "bargain price" means a "bargain" or so called "cheap" tire which is a low quality proposition and ordinarily does not result in satisfactory service.

In order to give our customers the benefit of recent reductions in the factory price of tires we have reduced prices on all sizes and types of Pennsylvania Vacuum Cup tires approximately

This means that you are getting a real bargain price on a good first quality tire and we know all buyers of good tires will be anxious to take advantage of this exceedingly good offer which of course includes the service we render with all tire sales.

Come in and ask for our new bargain prices on your size of Pennsylvania Vacuum Cup Tires.

BATIK IS EXPENSIVE:
But Batik is exclusive.

The secret Javanese art of Batik is known only to a few families in the Dutch Indies, therefore the true handmade Batik is as expensive there as it is in Shanghai. Machine made imitations are sold for less, but they bear no resemblance either in beauty or durability to the true Batik. Embroideries made by this process are classed among those most exclusive and most sought after. Beautiful specimens of this handicraft, made perfect for ladies wear in imperishable colours on fine silk, is on view (by appointment) at No. 1, Yu Yuen Road or at any time at Messrs. Strike In Steel Mill Prevents Big Order From Japan

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 21.—The recent strike in the Swansea Steel Works is stated to have prevented the acceptance of an urgent order from Japan which would have kept the mills occupied for two years.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand state as follows in their exchange circular for week ending September 21:

Exchange:—After slight fluctuations the London price of silver at 39⅞d. is ¼d. higher than last week. The market has again been supported by purchases for the Indian Bazaars.

Our local Gold dealers have continued selling Gold T.T. and while our official rate remains unchanged a premium of from 1d. to 2½ has been available for T.T. on London for early deliveries. General business remains dull and we close, after a strong market, a little easier.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 25,417,000, a decline of Tls. 280,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $24,860,000, a decline of $240,000.

Estimated value in Tls. 43,300,000 as against Tls. 52,150,000 held at this time last year.

WEATHER

The typhoon is apparently starting to N.-W. towards Formosa and the Loochoos. The high pressures will probably advance at sea and make the weather overcast and variable with a little rain along the coast.

MARCH OF EVENTS

BY BRUCE HOPPER

HUNGARY continues to occupy Burgenland, belonging to Austria, and the Powers continue to issue ultimatums demanding immediate evacuation. Dire measures are threatened. The situation only proves the inefficacy of the Supreme Council to exercise its will in eastern Europe, and as Rumania was abandoned to the onslaught of the Hungarian Bolsheviks under Bela Kun, so will Austria probably have to fight her own battle in this case.

Promises were made to the small nations that their territories would be protected if they obeyed the will of the Powers. In nearly every case the protection has failed to materialise in a crisis. Poland, Hungary and the Ukrainians have invaded neighboring territories in defiance of the Allied will, and thus far have not been penalised.

Austria was left the most destitute of the enemy powers, and today is crowded into a narrow strip of unproductive mountains. Her granaries were assigned to Czecho-Slovakia, her mines and forests to Jugo-Slavia, and the rich Trentino district to Italy. In all the territories taken from Austria there is a systematic movement to oust Austrian property holders, that the acquired districts may be quickly nationalised.

It is surely time the Powers used something more effective than ultimatums to preserve what small sovereignty has been left to Austria.

PERMISSION has been given by the League of Nations to Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, and Rumania to form a Little Entente. To that society Greece will probably be added. The object of the Little Entente is two-fold: to protect each other against Russia and Hungary, and to present a united front against the will of the Powers, which is sometimes considered prejudicial to the interests of the small allied nations in eastern Europe.

It is significant that the Little Entente is opposed to the admittance of Hungary into the League of Nations, although the committee has approved that country's application.

Hungary has proved to be a troublesome neighbor since the re-acquisition of her independence. Treaties are disregarded, and commissions sent to Budapest by the Allies receive but little assurance that encroachments will cease. The Hungarians represent the largest block of Asiatic people settled in Europe. The Huns, Avars and Magyars, kinsmen of the Turks, overran eastern Europe in the 10th century, and were proclaimed by Emperor Otto I. as "enemies of God." Later Hungary adopted Christianity, but very little else of European culture. Its position as wedge between the southern and western Slavs, and the aggressive hostility of the Magyars to other races, will probably make independent Hungary a storm center for years to come.

THE tentative agenda for the Washington conference published by the United States tends to clarify the Pacific situation, and remove some of China's fears that her case will not be given a proper hearing. Whether additions or amendments are made with the approval of the nations invited it is certain that the conference will be unique if it limits the discussion to the agenda, or refrains from introducing unmentioned subjects.

Japanese interest in the conference has found expression in an organisation of political leaders and private citizens in Tokio for the purpose of drawing up a program. There is considerable hostility to the conference in Japan, but intelligent people, dissociated from the military party, seem to be calling as loudly as people of other nations for an understanding on the Pacific. On their program one finds strange things, such as a demand for the neutralisation of the Panama Canal.

That Lloyd George will be unable to attend the conference is a matter for regret in some quarters, and relief in others. America would like to see the British Premier, who is the only one of the great arbiters of the peace conference still at his post. On the other hand a personnel distinct from the conclave which framed the Versailles Treaty is deemed by many as essential to the success of the conference. Whoever is sent to Washington as the head of the British delegation it is certain he will be the best man available to represent British policies in the Far East. Why, by the way, isn't the name of Sir John Jordan mentioned?

UPHOLDS EINSTEIN THEORY

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—Your article today by Mr. Gaynor on the Einstein theory is quite misleading. Einstein does not say that Newton's law is "an exploded theory." On the contrary he says that, except for minute corrections, it is perfectly reliable. Hence the fact of the discovery of Neptune is in no sense adverse to the Einstein theory. Einstein's ideas are not based on the mere motion of bodies but on the mathematical considerations arising in connection with the velocity of light. Mr. Gaynor evidently does not understand the Einstein theory at all.

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT CHATLEY.

Activities Of The China Medical Board

BY ROGER S. GREENE

The purpose of the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation is to co-operate with other agencies in the gradual development of a system of scientific medicine in China. In other countries preventive work in medicine first engaged the main efforts of the Foundation, since the fostering of public health presents the prospect of far larger results in the welfare of nations and individuals, for the expenditure of any given sum than an equal expenditure of effort and money on the treatment of the sick. In China, however, several factors have contributed to defer the initiation of direct activities in hygiene and preventive medicine by the Rockefeller Foundation.

In the first place systematic protection of the public health is properly a government function, and while private agencies can sometimes give valuable aid in such activities, their efforts are usually most effective when they are subordinated to a carefully conceived program of some governmental unit such as a province or municipality. In the disturbed political conditions now prevailing throughout China, with frequent changes in the government, and with the authorities preoccupied as they are with other more pressing problems, the prospects for the early development of public health work on a large scale have not been encouraging. A second difficulty lies in the fact that confidence in scientific medicine is not sufficiently widespread to ensure the co-operation on the part of the people that would be necessary for the most effective work. Furthermore it is clear that while much of preventive medicine as it is known in the West may immediately be applied to China, the conditions to be dealt with, whether biological, social or economic, are so different from those in the West that it is important that any large effort in public health should be preceded by a period of careful study of local conditions, in order that the measures undertaken may be adapted to them. Finally it must be admitted that a highly trained personnel is as necessary for a public health program as for the manning of hospitals, and that the number of doctors now available in China is not sufficient for any considerable extension of either kind of work.

LINES OF ACTIVITY

The problem of medical education was therefore indicated as that which first demand attention. With this in mind the following lines of activity have suggested themselves:

1 Pre-Medical education, thorough strengthening of science courses in colleges.

2 Medical education:

(a) Undergraduate courses.

(b) Training of investigators, teachers and clinical specialists through prolonged graduate courses and through practical work under proper guidance.

(c) Stimulating of private practitioners and missionary doctors, both foreign and Chinese, by short graduate courses.

3 Medical research, especially with reference to problems of the Far East.

4 Improvement of hospitals as training centers for internes and nurses, as models for imitation, as indispensable adjuncts to the practising physician, and as means of popular education.

5 Diffusion among the Chinese people of a knowledge of modern medicine and public health.

6 Fostering of professional ethics through development of character and ideals of service.

GATHERING OF STAFF

The most important contribution of the China Medical Board has been the reorganisation of the Peking Union Medical College, which has included the gathering of a large staff of teachers, nurses, and administrative officers, recruited in part from institutions in the United States, Canada and Great Britain, in part from among persons with considerable experience in medical missionary work in China and now in increasing numbers from well trained Chinese. The staff now includes 15 pre-medical teachers, 57 teachers in the Medical School, 31 nurses, and 48 administrative and technical officers. Of these 123 are foreigners and 23 Chinese trained abroad. New medical school buildings, capable of accommodating classes of 25, to be increased by some adjustments to 50, and a 250-bed hospital, have just been finished and are now in use.

A Pre-Medical School with a three-year course, receiving middle school graduates with a good knowledge of English, has been established to give the prospective medical students thorough preparation in physics, chemistry, biology, English and Chinese. Students are also required to study either French or German during this period. The registration at the beginning of the school year 1920-21 was 27 in the first year, 23 in the second and 9 in the third. The maintenance for the time being of this preparatory school has appeared to be a necessity, since though there are some colleges in China giving good courses in one or two of the sciences, some of the best institutions are very weak in these subjects, and none of them have thus far sent up students properly prepared in all three sciences for admission to the Medical School. At the same time an attempt has been made to help other institutions to give better instruction in physics, chemistry and biology. Direct grants have been made for this purpose to St. John's University, Fukien Christian University, Canton Christian College and Yale-in-China, to be used towards both buildings and staff, while a small part of a grant to the Shantung Christian University Medical School has also been used for the premedical courses.

OPENED IN 1919

The Medical School proper of the Peking Union Medical College was opened in the fall of 1919, and there were last year 13 students in the first and second year classes. The higher class begins its clinical studies in the fall of 1921. Side by side with the undergraduates teaching a number of Chinese and foreign doctors have been receiving instruction, some being admitted to regular undergraduate courses, a few attending special courses for graduates, and a larger number entering the clinics for practical work in the various departments. During the past twelve months there have been 72 such persons enrolled at different times, some of whom hold appointments as internes, residents or assistants, the allowance paid for most of these positions being so much lower than those prevailing outside, even in mission institutions, that the educational significance of the service is clearly emphasised, and at the same time the danger is avoided of accustoming the young graduates to salaries larger than most of them could get elsewhere.

For graduate students not holding regular appointment in the college the China Medical Board provides a limited unmber of fellowships, sufficent to cover tuition and maintenance, and in some cases travelling expenses also. In a few cases very encouraging reports have been received of the value of this graduate training, and now that the college has moved into its new quarters and has the larger part of its staff at work, it should be possible to render better service in this as in other branches of its activities. The special graduate courses for practitioners are being given mainly at the Chinese New Year and during the Summer vacation. A most important branch of the work of the college is the Nurses Training School which hopes to give to Chinese young women an education in nursing comparable to that offered in our best hospitals in the United States. Middle School graduation or its equivalent, and a working knowledge of English are required for admission to the four-year course. The first year is devoted to work in the class-room and laboratory, and includes science courses in the pre-medical school. In the remaining years practical work in the wards is combined with the instruction in theory. The aim is to turn out nurses who shall be prepared to take positions of responsibility in teaching and other hospitals on an equality with nurses trained abroad. The fact that many institutions have been unable to secure foreign nurses, even when their support was assured, indicates the urgent need for Chinese of equal training, whose broad educational background will enable them to command the respect which the nursing department of a hospital must have if it is to play the part that it should. Graduate students will be admitted also to the Nurses' Training School, and some of these, who have a good command of English, may be given scholarships for study abroad, if the quality of their work at the Peking School seems to justify the expense.

STUDY CHINESE FOODS

A department of Dietetics has been organised and chemical studies are being made of all important Chinese foods, in order that hospital diets may be intelligently selected. Some instruction in dietetics is given to the pupil nurses, and informal courses may be arranged for others desiring to specialise in this subject.

While devoting its energies and its resources mainly to the Peking School, the Board has been much interested also in the development of other institutions. In particular grants have been made to the Hunan Yale College of Medicine, and to the Shantung Christian University School of Medicine, of which the former like the Peking School teaches in English, while the Shantung School teaches in Chinese. Small grants have also been made to the Pennsylvania Medical School of St. John's University, and to the National Medical College, a government school at Peking. The Hunan and Shantung schools have also been able to secure much more support than before from sources other than the China Medical Board, and though they still have many urgent needs, they have made such good use of their funds and have worked so constantly for higher standards that they should undoubtedly look forward to a future of great usefulness. Teachers from these schools when on furlough have held junior teaching appointments in some of our best American medical schools, thus gaining useful experience and at the same time helping to win recognition for the institutions from which they come. In many cases the China Medical Board has given fellowships to teachers in medical schools other than the Peking School in order to enable them to carry on systematic study in their respective departments during their furlough years.

The medical profession of China has thus far labored under the serious handicap of not having any common language medium for scientific intercourse. There has been no generally accepted medical terminology in Chinese and the groups trained abroad or in China under the influence of different foreign nationalities naturally cling to the language of their teachers, having no other satisfactory means of expression. At the initiative of the China Medical Missionary Association a joint terminology committee has been organised, representing different groups, which has now made great progress in preparing an official terminology for the medical and pre-medical sciences.

Government institutions are now taking a leading part in the work, and the new terms are published with the sanction of the Ministry of Education. The China Medical Board has assisted in this enterprise and in the work of producing a medical literature in Chinese through grants to the China Medical Missionary Association and the National Medical Association of China.

No special institution devoted entirely to research has been contemplated, but it is expected that teachers in the medical schools will in time be able to make important original contributions to medical science, as it has been the intention in the Peking School to give the teachers a certain amount of opportunity for such work. The China Medical Missionary Association also has a research committee with which the teachers at Peking cooperate. Through this organisation it may be possible, by the coordination of the efforts of a wi circle of independent workers, to secure some results of real value.

Much attention has been devoted to the raising of hospital standards in China, for the work of medical education may be largely wasted unless there are opportunities for young doctors to practice their profession under favorable circumstances. Similar waste is often observed in the case of Chinese with a highly technical training in other branches returning to their native land to find no suitable employment in their specialties, and no older colleagues with long practical experience to give them the guidance that they need. The leading position taken by the missionary societies in medical work in China has been recognised and the attempt has been made to cooperate with them by strengthening the hands of their doctors and nurses, thus conserving a most important force for medical progress. It was obviously impossible to cooperate effectively with all the 300 or more mission medical centers in China, and the general policy has therefore been to aid first those hospitals near the principal medical schools and to establish an intimate though wholly informal relationship between them and the schools. Preference has also been given to institutions located in important cities with good prospects for securing local support, and to those already possessing a good nucleus in staff, equipment or buildings, as it was felt that in such cases the relatively small contributions which the China Medical Board could make would produce the largest results. The aid given has taken the form of contributions to support of additional staff, to general maintenance expenses, and to improvements in buildings and equipment. Of late such contributions have not amounted to more than half of the total sum required for the proposed additions and improvements, the remainder being supplied by the mission. Up to June 30, 1921, grants of this kind had been made to 30 mission hospitals and 1 purely Chinese Institution.

Not only have the mission contributions to these hospitals increased, but in many cases the improvements made have made it possible to secure increased Chinese support. The China Medical Board has also given to a large number of doctors in mission hospital work, grants in aid towards the cost of graduate study while they are on furlough. The great work that missionary doctors have done in the relief of immediate suffering speaks for itself and needs no further comment. While the ordinary mission hospital has many serious deficiencies, it has one element of strength, not often shared by equally small institutions at home, in that it has the full time of one and sometimes two or three experienced doctors devoted entirely to its interests, and the staff usually live so near the hospital that the patients have practically the advantage of a resident physician constantly on call. One of the most important achievements of the mission hospital has been the creation of popular confidence in Western medicine which has enabled the physician in time of epidemic to assist in the protection of the people far more effectively than he could otherwise have done. In places where there have been no hospitals, popular distrust has made effective campaigns against plague and other epidemics extremely difficult and often impossible. Appeals to mission doctors for help in such emergencies are constantly becoming more common, and their advice is frequently sought on matters of hygiene in government institutions.

As yet no separate effort has been made by the China Medical Board in the matter of popular education in public health matters. Much has been done by individual physicians, and by the China Medical Missionary Association in co-operation with other bodies, and in the future the medical schools will doubtless be able to assist materially.

The need of fostering high standards of professional ethics and spreading the Christian ideals of service is recognised, for without them it is doubtful whether even the scientific aims of the work can be satisfactorily attained, and this need is constantly kept in mind in selecting men and women for service in China who may set a helpful example to their Chinese associates and students.

While the China Medical Board has now been at work nearly seven years, it is still one of the youngest of the many foreign organisations at work in this country. Coming as it does into a well prepared field and enjoying the friendly co-operation of so many who share the same interest, it hopes to make in time, with its growing experience, a helpful contribution to the progress of the great Chinese people.

TEXACO
TEXACO ROOFING
the Asphaltic Roofing
If interested in a practical roofing you should know more about the Texaco kind—it is a durable, economical, proof against every kind of weather and easy to apply.
Texaco Roofing is a composition of asphalt with an all-rag felt base. Use it on any kind of structure you may possess. There are four weights—a weight suited to every requirement from factory to residence.
Texaco Roofing resists the action of chemical fumes, gas and smoke as well as rain, fog, sleet and any other form of moisture. That's why it is so economical to use. Texaco Roofing is fire resisting and, due to a special tempering process, proof against weather change. It will not melt in hot weather nor will extremely low temperatures cause it to crack.
